Think of this: When you have titles that you would like to display at one of the conferences we cover or have an author nipping at your heels, but you simply cannot justify the cost of purchasing your own booth, give us a call. We can be the solution.

River Of Fire Aag Ka

Never before available in English, River of Fire, originally published as Aag ka Darya in 1959, is without question the most important novel of 20th-century Urdu literature. An amazing, sui generis book, River of Fire spans two and a half millennia.

River of Fire: Aag Ka Darya by Qurratulain Hyder

First published as Aag ka Darya in 1959, River of Fire encompasses the fates of four recurring characters over two and a half millennia: Gautam, Champa, Kamal, and Cyril–Buddhist, Hindu, Muslim, and Christian. In different eras different relations form and reform among the four: romance and war, possession and dispossession.

Amazon.com: River of Fire (9780811215336): Qurratulain ...

Aag Ka Darya (Urdu: ?? ?? ????? ?; River of Fire) is a landmark historical novel written by Qurratulain Hyder providing context to the traumatic partition of the Indian subcontinent into two nation-states.

Aag Ka Darya - Wikipedia

Of all the novels about India, its history, and the richness of its culture, River of Fire is probably the most complex but also the most expansive and, at times, lyrical. This is the English version of Aag Ka Darya (Published in 1959) and even though there is always a loss in the act of translation, the novel still carries the narrative beauty of the original.

Amazon.com: Customer reviews: River of Fire (Aag Ka Darya)

The most important novel of twentieth-century Urdu fiction, Qurratulain Hyder's River of Fire was first published as Aag ka Darya in 1959. River of Fire encompasses the fates of four recurring characters over two and a half millennia: Gautam, Champa, Kamal, and Cyril—Buddhist, Hindu, Muslim, Christian.

River of Fire by Qurratulain Hyder, Paperback | Barnes ...

Of all the novels about India, its history, and the richness of its culture, River of Fire is probably the most complex but also the most expansive and, at times, lyrical. This is the English version of Aag Ka Darya (Published in 1959) and even though there is always a loss in the act of translation, the novel still carries the narrative beauty of the original.
Aag ka Darya (1959) is a novel by Qurratulain Hyder which she herself translated/transcreated into English as The River of Fire (1998). This paper analyses the different strategies used by the author in the “transcreation” of this ‘new text’.

The River of Fire - Historical Novel Society

Originally published in 1959 as Aag ka Darya; English edition “transcreated from the original Urdu by the author.” A sweeping saga that covers over two thousand years, River of Fire weaves the lives and fates of several recurring characters into a glorious tapestry of India’s history. As you can imagine, this makes the book difficult, if not impossible, to summarize in any way that will make much sense.

River of Fire Quotes by Qurratulain Hyder

One of the most outstanding literary names in Urdu literature, she is best known for her magnum opus, Aag Ka Darya (River of Fire), a novel first published in Urdu in 1959 from Lahore, Pakistan, that stretches from the 4th century BC to post partition of India.

Qurratulain Hyder (Author of River of Fire)
Editions of River of Fire: Aag Ka Darya by Qurratulain Hyder

Of all the novels about India, its history, and the richness of its culture, River of Fire is probably the most complex but also the most expansive and, at times, lyrical. This is the English version of Aag Ka Darya (Published in 1959) and even though there is always a loss in the act of translation, the novel still carries the narrative beauty of the original.

River of Fire - Kindle edition by Qurratulain Hyder ...

River of Fire - A Review by Jafar Abbas: Qurratulain Hyder is one of the few living Urdu writers whose work can be placed along with the very best in world literature. Her novel Aag ka Darya, first published in 1959, is without question the most important novel of 20th century Urdu literature. Not too long ago, the author herself, who writes equally well in English, has "transcreated" this novel as the River of Fire.